The Election To-Day-Berittant Marris

The Rection Te-Day-Britiant Marriage—
Book Presentation Ar.

The usual spring election will be held here to-day. The officers to be elected are a councilman from each ward, a justice of the peace each for the First and Fourth wards, and a high constable. The election will not be very exciting, there being no contest except for the office of high constable. In the county, however, there will be considerable inlowever, there will be considerable interest, the Republicans having out a ticket in each district.

Miss Annie Woodfin, of this city, and

Rev. Walter G. Bates, of King and Queen, were married at the Central Methodist church at 1 o'clock yesterday in the presence of a large congrega-George Jones, Rev. Wm. Williams, T. Charles K. Willis, and Mr. Bates, brother of the groom. The bride is a daughter of the late Rev. A. P. Woodfin, and the groom a son of the late Micajah Bates, of Richmond. The ceremony, which was very beautiful impressive, was conducted by William H. Christian, assisted by Rev. A. B. Woodfin, D. D., uncle of bride. The bride was very becomingly attired in a travelling suit, and carried in her hand a beautiful quet of rare flowers. They left on the 2:45 train over the York-River road for their future home in King and Queen county. Many are the ishes for their happiness.

At the close of the entertainment at Cersley's Hall Tuesday night Rev. L. R. Thornhill, on behalf of the young ladies who were in the broom drill, presented Mr. H. A. Maurice, who had taken so much pains and trouble in drilling them, with a copy of Whittier's poems. This was quite a surprise to Mr. Maurice, but he, in his ever-ready manner, accepted the book in a very nice little speech. He deserves great credit for his untiring efforts in drilling these young ladies, and to him they are greatly indebted for the degree of perion which they have attained. The river was falling right much yes terday, but from the manner in which the rain fell in the afternoon and last night it will probably be rising to-day.
